LIGHTNING STRIKES BETHEL INN PROPERTY AT SONGO POND

During a mid-day electrical storm yesterday lightning destroyed a large pine tree and demolished ladies bath houses at the Bethel Inn Beach Club at Songo Pond. The lightning entered the kitchen area of the Main cottage upon leaving the bath house and ruined the electrical wiring. A small fire was started but was quickly extinguished.

During an electrical storm accompanied by high winds and hail early Tuesday evening lightning struck and did slight damage near the inn's buildings in the village. A tree on the golf course was blown down.

WHITHER AMERICA?

"Though American technique is the envy of the world," says the eminent architect, R. B. Wilcox, "the American Way of life" does not command unqualified respect abroad. We have proved to all the peoples of the earth that it is possible for an energetic nation to raise its material and civic standards to undreamed-of heights. Other nations are eager to adopt our magic formula. Yet they reject the idea that the American brand of technology provides the ultimate blueprint for the good life. Indeed, we ourselves are beginning to suspect that economic abundance and civic freedom may not be enough.

We are becoming more and more convinced that we have failed to give leadership in the right direction. We have not exported, along with our technical and scientific skills, principles of wise application—mainly because we have not formulated such principles at home.

Despite brilliant individual contributions to planning and design, our biggest man-made objects—our cities—have grown chaotic and ugly.

For all the heroic efforts of conservationists, a good deal of our loveliest countryside is being bulldozed out of existence—a sacrifice to commercial exploitation.

"Bad patterns of design hardened into a system. Standardized ugliness! Crystallized chaos!" (Lewis Mumford). And the natural feeling for quality and appropriateness is dissipated in the giddy tumble from novelty to novelty.

"The tools of civilization have outgrown us. Our subservience to our brainchild, the machine, has impaired the individual's capability to seek and understand his deeper potentialities." We are accused, and perhaps rightly so, of worshipping the machine to such a degree that we are forsaking the human standards of value in its service.

Our apologia is that the rapid progress of technology and science has confounded our concepts of beauty and the good life; as a result we are left with loose ends and a sense of helplessness in the midst of plenty. An observation of Albert Einstein throws light upon the result of continued on Page Four

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The manager and Ernest Angvine will attend a hearing in Augusta July 11 regarding the registration of snow vehicles. The purpose of the hearing is to bring forward problems that should be anticipated in conjunction with any new legislation concerning the taxation of the machines.

Locally there is a personal tax being imposed on these vehicles for 1968 as has been done in the past. It would seem legislation will have to provide a means of applying the amount paid on personal tax to the excise if it does become law an excise tax has to be paid.

With the great number of these machines we have within the state a general law pertaining to taxation appears to be in order. At the present some municipalities tax them others do not. Places that do tax vary from one to another as to value.

NEW WITHHOLDING RATES TO BE IN EFFECT JULY 14

Whitney L. Wheeler, district director of Internal Revenue for Maine, advised taxpayers that July 14, 1968 is the effective date for withholding rates to reflect the new 10 per cent surcharge on individual income tax.

Wages paid on and after July 14, 1968, are subject to the increased withholding.

To assist in making the change-over to the new rates, a new edition of the employer's Tax Guide (Circular E) was recently mailed to all employers. Mr. Wheeler advises there is a typographical error on page 33 of Circular E (Publication #15, Rev. May 1968) in the Semimonthly Married wage bracket $580 to $600, with eight employees. The amount of income tax withheld should read $61.10 instead of $61.10.

Employers with payroll systems using computers, or certain bookkeeping and accounting machines, may find it desirable to use alternative methods of calculating the Federal income tax to be withheld from wages. Alternative formula tables and wage bracket percentage tables incorporating the new 10% surcharge—IRS Publication 493—will soon be available at IRS Augusta office.

Director Wheeler said the alternative methods tables give the same results as the percentage method tables in the new Employer's Tax Guide.

Employers may also construct their own tables and formulas so long as the resulting amounts of withholding are the same as prescribed in the Employer's Tax Guide.

Also authorized by IRS is any method producing a withholding amount which falls between that shown on the two official tables or comes within 15 cents of the tax for a weekly payroll period. A proportionately greater leeway is allowed for longer payroll periods.

NORTH WATERFORD SPOOL MILL CLOSED

Some 60 workers of the North Waterford Spool Company had no job to return to at the end of their vacation. Although there were orders booked for some weeks ahead, reportedly the plant was closed by creditors. One reason cited for shut-down was the inability of the firm to compete with plastic spools and imported items. Many of the employees have been situated in similar jobs in other plants through the efforts of Reynold Jordan.

JACQUELINE PEARCE TERRY-THOMAS

JUST A 4th OF JULY RIDE

July 4th, 1968, dawned clear and bright and the family consisting of Joe—the chauffeur—and Paw and me—decided to go for a ride.

After the morning's work was done we put up a picnic lunch and locked the door and started for no place in particular.

We loaded ourselves into the Ford and took off. Went to Bryant Pond and got Sister Myrtle—then decided we should go down by the "Herbert Bacon" farm that had been burned by lightning a couple nights earlier. It was one and sight.

Nothing looked like it did when Paw and I and our family lived there from the fall of 1922 till May 1946. Two daughters and one son was born to us there.

Somehow there always seemed to be an over abundance of sickness and bad luck, fall our way. While we were there we lost eight horses—cows—sheep and dogs and cats.

One thing we did have some of the best neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John Hathaway, the Vern Whitmans, the John Browns, the Bert Allens, the Charles Walkers and the Charles Cary family, also the Lester Hathaways.

The Lester Hathaway children and ours were quite close in ages and Mrs. Lester Hathaway and I have set together and talked and mended kids stockings many an afternoon. They always seemed to mend so much easier when we had each others company.

From the "Bacon" place we went down by the "Willie Helkinen" farm (that used to be) where we used to buy extra milk for our customers at Bryant Pond if we needed extra. We had a nice milk route in Bryant Pond for quite a spell. From there we went to "Greenwood City" and decided to ride up toward Patch Mt. by the Greenwood town farm which we carried on for one year for the town.

So many bushes grown in everywhere nothing looked like it used to. We drove up the Patch Mt. road as far as we could go on account of the road being washed so badly by our spring rains. We found a place where we could turn around and came back to the "City"—then over by

EMPIRE GROVE METHODIST SUMMER ASSEMBLY TO BE HELD JULY 26 - AUG. 4

The Empire Grove Methodist Summer Assembly will be held this year from July 26 through August 4 at the camp ground at East Poland. The ten-day program will feature classes for children and adults, plus daily worship services and recreational activities.

A special feature of this year's program are two three-day adult courses designed to enlighten church members on recent changes in the local church pattern. Board members and youth program leaders are especially urged to attend these classes.

Housing and meal accommodations for individuals, families or groups are available at modest rates. Free tenting and picnicking areas are also provided. For information or reservations, contact Rev. Ernest C. Flood, 28 Church St., Livermore Falls, Maine 04254.

Bernard Morgans—saw his lovely herd of black and white cows, great big beautiful creatures—down by the ponds to the Norway Country Club, where several people were out playing golf and getting their exercise. We didn't stop—kept right by and up to a daughters home where we found her slapping new paint on her house. We suggested she go with us for a ride as she would be alone all day. Believe it or not we never had to twist her arms one bit to get her to go.

A few minutes for her to shed her paint slacks and don a dress and we were on our way again. We went down and onto the road that leads to Harrison—a pretty town beside a beautiful lake that was being used by both great and small. The day wasn't too sunny but just A-1 for riding for enjoyment. Anytime you could see a picnic area or a stretch of beach they were crowded.

We turned left there in Harrison and rode on to Naples—then to East Sebago lake. That sure is a lovely place and what a crowd there. You would have vowed they were expecting President Lyndon Johnson there for a big speech to see the congregation.

It was feed time so we pulled

this one-sided development: "Perfection of tools and confusion of aims are characteristic of our time".

And the new hope—the grand schemes of Urban Renewal—have disappointed at their inception. They show meager evidence that we recognize the urgent task confronting us—to shift the emphasis from "bigger" to "better".

These are the frontiers that we have been, and still are, slow to explore. And the consequent absence in our society of a cultivated sense of beauty has left natural talent underdeveloped.

We are beginning to realize that some important ingredients are missing from our brave new world—beauty and inner resourcefulness. We are beginning to realize that cultural problems cannot be solved by intellectual processes alone. We must strike deeper chords to re-awaken in every individual the ability to understand and create form; and we must not ignore the fact that aesthetic principles release ethical powers.

Our generation takes its cultural guidance from groups of their fellow-citizens, school boards, city councils, women's clubs and, now, beautification commissions—to make important cultural decisions.

This is as it should be in a democratic society. There is no need for a "cultured elite" to impose upon an uncomprehending public an authoritative aesthetic formula; there is no need to work from the top down. The particular obligation of a democratic society is to work from the ground up. It should be a primary function of all, with a solid foundation in popular custom.

But how have these citizens trained themselves to deserve confidence in their judgement? How have they learned to distinguish between diversity and chaos? The pseudo-artistic examples of design that reach them through aggressive sales techniques, with their competitive assault of chaotic shapes and colors reduces them, too, to a state of sensorial apathy.

Our generation must first be made aware of the distinction between indiscriminate—which leads to cultural anarchy—and selectivity—which is a criterion of a balanced culture.

The effort must begin in school. And never has the moment been more opportune. The protests over campuses across the United States manifest the right spirit: students demand a larger role for themselves in the colleges, and a bigger role for colleges in the explosive issues of the day. "Any thinking person has to commit" has become almost a slogan. And not to respond to it would be inhuman.

Bronislawa Y. Noyl

off the road where we could watch the crowd and see the drawbridge work. We started to eat but I could swear the mosquitoes were hungrier than we were. Some of the most beautiful ones and big—we won't even mention their size!

We were still all chewing hamburgers and fighting skeeters when we saw a cop driving our way and expected he was to tell us to move from that place but he did not. He only inquired if we had seen a small girl with a small dog on a leash that had strayed away from the crowd. We had not seen her and I only hope she was found right away and O. K. Something like that could spoil any ones pleasure.

After our dinner was eaten we drove to Windham—took route 35 to North Raymond and out by Crescent Lake—thru Cooks Mills where Sister Myrtle pointed out a place where she had visited years ago. From Cooks Mills we went to Casco thus making the trip clear around Sebago Lake.

From Casco we traveled to Oldfield and called at a granddaughter's home but like ourselves they too were gone. We did hear Fritz barking so she was home but all alone and she would have been right in her glory to see us. She is quite some dog. Then we went to Oxford and up to Welchville, back to South Paris and called at a cousin's place but they too was all locked up. Even the dog was nowhere to be seen or heard there.

On we went toward Norway to Goodwin's where we all enjoyed a nice cold "Dairy Treat," even the dieters had one!

Up thru Norway village and by the lake—where lots of boats were on the water—and a big crowd on the beach by the lake. By the Country Club again and left Viva at her place. Said "So long" and went over by the place where years ago "James Frost" used to live. He used to witch for water for people. His wife told me one time I was related to her daughter Gladys. Guess I looked bewildered as I did not know there was any relationship. But the lady explained it this way. I married Estes—Estes was a brother to Wilbur—Wilbur married Lois and Lois was a cousin to Raymond and Raymond married Gladys so that made us related. Now anyone reading this who can tell me what relation Gladys and I was would be interesting. It couldn't be "buttonhole" relation.

Leaving the "Frost" place we drove up thru what used to be called "Yorks Mills" sixty five years or so ago and we came out opposite Nestor Tamminen's place. It had been years since any of us was over those roads so there was something different to see. Some new houses had been built in along the way as well as big Trallors that had been moved in. Old places had been burned or fell down and what used to be mowing fields were all grown up as they are in other places. With no sheep or cattle the fields grow up pretty quick.

We came back to Greenwood City—on to Bryant's Pond and left Myrtle and visited here a little—then up thru Lockes Mills to Bethel and out to Swans Corner and home. Tired but happy.

As I said before all the picnic places and beaches were crowded—made you wonder if there could be anyone home anywhere. We saw no signs of any accidents—not even a blowed tire.

We did see lots and lots of lovely flowers all along the way—the Peonies were especially beautiful. We saw a few herds of cattle here and there and several saddle horses.

A few were haying, making good use of the 1st good hay weather 1968 had blessed us with.

With good company so ended a good ride, July 4th, 1968. —Eva H. Yates.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —
This year we have surely lived up to our reputation of talking about the weather more than people of any other place outside of New England. And why not, we have certainly had more weather to talk about. It has been our arresting feature. Almost every day clouds hung low, brushing the tops of the trees and hiding the hills. We had seen them only through a veil of falling rain.

Usually we enjoy the lengthening days of sunshine with a bit of leisure, before the rush of the haying season. This year it became summer overnight with the warm west wind playing in the little poplars, shimmering and silvery at the edge of the pond and polishing everything to a diamond brilliance.

At the farm now, there is an endless succession of tasks on through every day and the deadline seems to be immediate. Over the curving shoulders of the land the machines move.

How different from the time that horses once plodded on, or stood there, rippling their skin in the light stir of the air, tossing their heads, bodies steaming gently and their harnesses making a creaking or jangling sound.

Bales of hay dot the fields and windrows curve away like rollers with here and there warm gray boulders rising in the sun.

The fragrance of the new mown hay changes at almost every step.

Light glistens along the moistly shining skin of the workers. Everywhere the barn swallows circle around with sunlight flashing on their dark blue satin backs, their forked tails brushing and combing, chattering all the time. They dart down at the cat as he naps in the sun.

Out behind the barn in the green pasture that stretches to the shore, there is a lowing, oc-asionally, of cattle, answered by those cropping on the far hillside.

One can not cheat the earth when it comes to farming. The land must be tended religiously putting back into the soil much thought, labor, and time for what has been taken out. Men spend their strength and years at this art, and it truly is an art, in taming their beautiful land to their service. The farm is filled with hard work but great satisfaction. And also, the air is always filled with lovely sounds, and soft breezes are redolent with growing things. There is peace that one can not fail to feel.

At night when the chores are ended and the moon rises making a golden path across the water to your door step, the sky above is clear and filled with stars, one forgets his labor of the day and thinks how wonderful it is to live in the country where routine work and common things of nature bring a time of rest.

One goes to sleep with outside music; the voices of the tree toads, the thrushes, the white throated sparrows, and the tremble of inanimate voiceless life out there, solitary amongst a thousand shadows.

Miss Lucy Curtis is working with Miss Ann Holt at the recreation center in South Paris.

Mrs. Galen Curtis is visiting her niece in Poland for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis spent a few days at their camp this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements and two oldest sons went to the races and fire works on Oxford Plains Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis were in Berlin Saturday night attending Mt. Erist Grange meeting. They had a large delegation of N. H. state officers present. Mr. and Mrs. Putman, deputies of the Maine State Grange were also present at the meeting. A mock wedding was the feature of the evening and went over big.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell and family went to Thomas Point for the day Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell went to Bangor, spending the night in Brewer, returning home the next day. They drove by Bucksport, on the coast, which is a beautiful drive.

Many are taking a vacation from the mills this week. We have had a beautiful week at last for them to enjoy. Camp sites are full and many of the cottages, also.

Monday, the Franklin Grange met in a three point session at their hall when Bear River filled the chairs and Mt. Sugar Loaf put on a delightful program consisting of music, readings, recitations, stunts, etc. There were about 78 present at the supper and meeting. The last of these meetings will be held at Bear River the 13th when the chairs will be filled by Mt. Sugarloaf, Franklin will put on the program and a 6:30 supper will be served by the host Grange. Franklin Grange will have ladies' night on July 15.

Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis entertained Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winkley and Lillian Harmon at their camp on North Pond. Mrs. Harmon visited Mrs. Davis a couple of days.

his business philosophy is a lot like ours

He buys direct, eliminating in between costs.

He watches his operating expenses.

He sells a quality product... Ann Page Cheeri-Aid.

He guarantees satisfaction.

He can because we completely guarantee the Cheeri-Aid.

He sells at a fair price and makes a profit in pennies.

Young businessmen like this could be our competitors some day.

After all, we started with just one product more than a century ago.

Here's an important tip to all young businessmen.

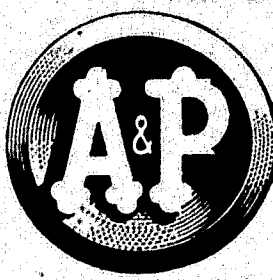

You must care...

about the products you sell... the people you serve.

We always have and still do.

ACQUIRES UNCONVENTIONAL AIRCRAFT

— In this picture, Robert B. Swain, of East Andover, stands beside his recently acquired Heli-Courier. This six-passenger, 1890 lb. aircraft, a product of Heli Aircraft Corp., Bedford, Mass., is powered with a 250 h. p. engine, and with leading edge slats, trailing edge slotted flaps and full flying tail gives an amazing performance. In a demonstration flight Monday evening by Mr. Swain, the craft was off the ground and climbing steeply at less than 40 m.p.h. with a ground run of slightly more than 300 feet. This unconventional-appearing aircraft is capable of fully controlled flight at speeds well below 40 m.p.h., and will cruise at more than 140 m.p.h. Completely stall and spin proof, its rate of descent, with power off, is less than that of a parachute.

Mr. Swain learned to fly at age 19, taught by Carmelo Onofrio, formerly of Bethel and Andover, and purchased his first plane from him, a Stinson SM8A. Since that time he has owned ten aircraft, the latest being the Heli-Courier.

An Air Force veteran of World War II, he served in the European theatre, flying paratroopers and towing gliders. He saw many missions in the B-24s and C-47s.

Bob's oldest son, now working in California, holds a commercial pilot's license and his youngest son is now learning to fly.

WOODSTOCK

Many from the South Woodstock Seventh - Day Adventist Church attended the Camp meeting which has recently convened in Freeport, Maine.

They heard Carl P. Anderson, the president of the Northern New England Conference give his report of his tour of Europe and the Middle East. He visited 15 nations on this tour which was in conjunction with the 20th Anniversary of the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights. Mr. Anderson found that in Spain Protestants have less freedom than anywhere, including Catholic Italy and Communist Yugoslavia. Protestants are better off now in Yugoslavia than they ever were before Communists came. Today all religions are on equal footing.

In U.S.S.R. religious institutions are not permitted to propagate their faith and atheism is taught throughout the school system, but many people are not satisfied and are longing for the freedom enjoyed in other Communist Countries and Western Europe. But the U.S.S.R. is a land of law and order and people are not afraid to walk alone on the streets at midnight.

Only in Greece and Israel did Anderson see a tightening down of religious freedom. We can truly be glad that we live in a country where religious freedom is enjoyed.
